Hi Kathy!

ICF moved quickly and delivered the methodology memo on Friday. I reviewed it this morning. I was wondering if you would do a quick scan of it, ignoring language used and details of the program, and instead focusing on the big picture of what's in and what's out for calculating costs of the rule. I've gone through and labelled each section as either baseline costs, or having some kind of margin of costs that we'll need to calculate. MOST of it is baseline costs – costs that will not be changing because of the rule. All the info is interesting and I think will be good to discuss, as David wanted, in the background/baseline section, but will not be a margin of change cost.

Once we get these things into either the baseline/background box vs. the change in the rule box, then we can reorganize the document into what the economic analysis will look like and start getting into the details of the text more over the month of March.

Let me know if that works. I'm at Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) if you want to chat. I'm working today and Wednesday this week.

Thanks!!!
Karen
